“ John since you left everything has gone wrong, The girl you loved so much has turned into someone so hateful, has banned us from Your home and will not give us your personal property or my property that was in your home. I truly believe if you were here she would have been gone she has proved herself to your dad and I as a greedy golddigger. You would still be here if she would have let us know you were sick. I will never be able to forgive her for what she has done to our family, and her family for some reason is backing her and falling for her lies. You were the best thing that ever happened to her, she should have taken better care of you and stopped drinking like she said she was going to do. She was at fault 80% of not getting you to the hospital knowing that your liver was bad, and her family is responsible also, knowing you were sick and had a beach trip and giving you alcohol knowing how sick you were. If you would have just let us know, you would be here today with us.

Susan why would u say that? John liver was bad way longer even before Monica and him got together. That's not fair nor cool. all of u guys drank with him! Not just Monica EVERYONE.. You guys & everyone else brought bottles of alcohol to his house or party's. I'm the one that yelled at him For drinking so much. I do remember Monica quitting her job for him. Also When he went to your house he told me he has to spend the night because he knew u guys were all going to drink bottles of liquor. John had help he was loved by us he was seeing doctors for his liver everyone knew he was sick no one knew it was bad because if you know your son he never wanted no one to feel sorry for him or know his business and when u knew his business he would get pissed, but I didn't care I still made it a point to be In His business because he like to drink a lot. It's not fair to blame one person when you all drink with him.. People need to stop playing the blame game already. Monica still talks to his brother He knows she not like what was described. This so wrong and defamation of character. Why can't we all stop and get along!
